

Meet... Liz Sterling

After interviewing over 2,000 authors, celebrities, scientists, politicians and artists, Liz Sterling realized she was on to something. “There are many Life Lessons”, Sterling says, “and by learning these lessons from others, we benefit from their experience. We’re all looking for ways to learn about and understand ourselves and our changing world. Why not learn from those who have managed life’s changes effectively and from those who have already experienced great success?”
